Contingent Income Auto-Callable Securities due on or about July 28, 2028

Based on the Performance of the Common Stock of Meta Platforms, Inc.

Principal at Risk Securities

This document provides a summary of the terms of the Contingent Income Auto-Callable Securities (the "securities"). Investors should carefully review the accompanying preliminary pricing supplement for the securities, the accompanying product supplement, the prospectus supplement and the prospectus, as well as the "Risk Considerations" section below, before making an investment decision.

The securities do not guarantee any return of principal at maturity. Investors will not participate in any appreciation of the underlying stock and must be willing to accept the risk of not receiving any contingent quarterly coupons over the term of the securities. The securities are senior unsecured debt securities issued by The Bank of Nova Scotia ("BNS"), and all payments on the securities are subject to the credit risk of BNS. As used in this document, "we," "us," or "our" refers to BNS.

Risk Considerations

The risks set forth below are discussed in more detail in the "Risk Factors" section in the preliminary pricing supplement. Please review those risk factors carefully prior to making an investment decision.

Risks Relating to Return Characteristics

- Risk of loss at maturity.
- Contingent repayment of stated principal amount only at maturity.
- You may not receive any contingent quarterly coupons.
- Greater expected volatility with respect to the underlying stock generally reflects a higher contingent quarterly coupon and a higher expectation as of the pricing date that the final share price of the underlying stock could be less than the downside threshold price on the final determination date.
- The securities are subject to reinvestment risk in the event of an early redemption.
- The contingent quarterly coupon, if any, is based solely on the closing price or the final share price, as applicable.
- Your potential return on the securities is limited, you will not participate in any appreciation of the underlying stock and you will not realize a return beyond the returns represented by the contingent quarterly coupons received, if any, during the term of the securities.

Risks Relating to Characteristics of the Underlying Stock

- The securities are subject to risks associated with investments in single equity securities.
- There can be no assurance that the investment view implicit in the securities will be successful.
- There is no affiliation between BNS and the underlying stock issuer.

Risks Relating to Estimated Value and Liquidity

- BNS' initial estimated value of the securities at the time of pricing (when the terms of your securities are set on the pricing date) will be lower than the issue price of the securities.
- Neither BNS' nor SCUSA's estimated value of the securities at any time is determined by reference to credit spreads or the borrowing rate BNS would pay for its conventional fixed-rate debt securities.
- BNS' initial estimated value of the securities does not represent future values of the securities and may differ from others' (including SCUSA's) estimates.
- The securities have limited liquidity.
- The price at which SCUSA would buy or sell your securities (if SCUSA makes a market, which it is not obligated to do) will be based on SCUSA's estimated value of your securities.
- The price of the securities prior to maturity will depend on a number of factors and may be substantially less than the stated principal amount.

Risks Relating to General Credit Characteristics

- Payments on the securities are subject to the credit risk of BNS.

Risks Relating to Hedging Activities and Conflicts of Interest

- Hedging activities by BNS and SCUSA may negatively impact investors in the securities and cause our respective interests and those of our clients and counterparties to be contrary to those of investors in the securities.
- The calculation agent can make antidilution and other adjustments that may adversely affect the market value of, and any amounts payable on, the securities.
- We, SCUSA and our other affiliates regularly provide services to, or otherwise have business relationships with, a broad client base, which has included and may include us and the underlying stock issuer and the market activities by us, SCUSA or our other affiliates for our or their own respective accounts or for our clients could negatively impact investors in the securities.
- Activities conducted by BNS and its affiliates may impact the market price of the underlying stock and the value of the securities.
- The calculation agent will have significant discretion with respect to the securities, which may be exercised in a manner that is adverse to your interests.
- BNS and its affiliates may publish research or make opinions or recommendations that are inconsistent with an investment in the securities.

Risks Relating to Canadian and U.S. Federal Income Taxation

- Uncertain tax treatment. Significant aspects of the tax treatment of the securities are uncertain. You should consult your tax advisor about your tax situation. See "Additional Information About the Securities — Tax Considerations" and "— Material Canadian Income Tax Consequences" in the preliminary pricing supplement.

Underlying Stock
